

Language Assessment Seminar: Three Graded Assignments
(Example of a "Partial Dictation")

I. Assignment One: Review of a Language Test

- A) A commercially developed or widely used language test.
- B) A test in the language of your degree.

II. Assignment Two: Original Test ~~development~~ Project

A) Part One: Designing and piloting ~~your test~~ your test.

1. Define the constructs and write the test Specifications.
2. Draft the test.
3. Pre-pilate the test with native/proficient speakers of the TL.
4. Pilate the test with at least 9 students.
5. Score the students' tests.
6. Compute the descriptive statistics.
7. Draw the frequency polygons that represent ss. scores
8. Discuss the results using the frameworks studied in class. (Wesche)

B) Part Two: ~~Analyzing~~ Analyze the results.

1. Calculate the item statistics.
2. Do further statistical analysis.

III. Assignment Three: The Language Testing ideas file

- A) Write your philosophy of assessment.
- B) Collect and organize a wide range of resources.
- C) Explain the rationale for selecting the material you have collected.

Language Assessment: Three Graded Assignments (Partial Dictation Example)

I. Assignment One: Review of a Language Test

- A) A commercially developed or widely used language test.
- B) A test in the language of your degree.

II. Assignment Two: Original Test Development Project

A) Part One: Designing and piloting your test.

1. Define the constructs and write the test specifications.
2. Draft the test.
3. Pre-pilot the test with native/proficient speakers of the TL.
4. Pilot the test with at least nine students.
5. Score the students' tests.
6. Compute the descriptive statistics.
7. Draw the frequency polygons.
8. Discuss the results using the frameworks studied in class.

B) Part Two: Analyze the results.

1. Calculate the item statistics.
2. Do further statistical analyses.

III. Assignment Three: The Language Testing Ideas File

- A) Write your philosophy of assessment.
- B) Collect and organize a wide range of resources.
- C) Explain the rationale for selecting the material you have collected.